This passport contains a microchip which stores information taken from the data page. The chip can be read electronically to confirm the identity of the bearer. This document complies with International Civil Aviation Organisation standards and incorporates security features to prevent illegal access to the information stored on the chip. The centre page contains further information.

Protect your identity

Lost or stolen passports provide criminals and terrorists with the opportunity to assume another identity, travel illegally and commit crimes. You must report the loss or theft of your passport without delay. A lost or stolen passport will be immediately and permanently cancelled. It must not be used again under any circumstances. Tough penalties apply. Information on lost or stolen passports is shared with other countries and use of a cancelled passport may result in denial of entry to overseas countries and disruption of travel plans.

To replace a lost or stolen passport you will need to pay a fee additional to the normal application fee. In cases of multiple losses the replacement passport may be issued with restricted validity.

To report the loss or theft of your passport use the Passports website at www.passports.gov.au or call 131 232. Overseas, contact the nearest diplomatic or consular mission.

Your passport identifies you – protect it at all times
